

Remembrance Day Poetry

Let's We Forget

By Class 6D

We have written our poems after reflection upon Remembrance Sunday. We discussed the emotion and great pride and gratitude that we have for those men and women who gave their lives during many conflicts so that we can have the life we have today.

As we are studying World War 2 in History, we were also able to make links with what we have learnt in this subject too.

We hope that you appreciate our writing, as we have worked really hard to capture the emotion and feeling of this subject.
